

Synthesis Hailguard

Long-lasting protection for crops

Made stronger to last longer

Proven performance in any weather extreme year after year

Synthesis Hailguard is purpose-designed for tension structures to provide optimum protection for fruit crops and vineyards from hail damage.

Already in widespread use in Australia and New Zealand, Hailguard provides proven performance in a range of structure types in virtually any weather extreme and delivers the added benefits of substantially reducing wind damage and sunburn.

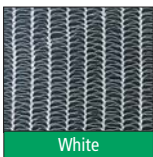

Hailguard has a reinforced selvedge that incorporates eyelets to make installation so much easier and faster. The eyelets are spaced at 5, 6 and 6.5 metres (16' 5", 19' 8" and 21' 4") along the width so the fabric can be conveniently cut down if needed.

Hailguard is manufactured from UV-stabilised HDPE which means it resists sun damage and won't rot or absorb moisture. Its lock-stitch construction gives extremely high tear strength and burst pressure while the knit density allows maximum light transmission.

Base material:	UV-stabilised High Density Polyethylene
Construction:	Monofilament yarn
Knit pattern:	Lock-stitch with centre reinforcement and eyelets at 5 m, 6 m and 6.5 m
Mass:	75 gsm (2.2 oz/sq yd)
